This course provides an introduction to the ideas of African-American Psychology and its applicability to the Black American experience. Topics will include the Black family, Black Matriarch: myth or reality, Cultural deprivation, Black English (language), Ebonics, increase in Black suicides, Americans or transplanted Africans and the major issue in the African American community from an Afrocentric psychosocial perspective.

This class fulfills General Education (GE) subarea(s) D.3 dependent upon your catalog year. Please check with your GE Advisor to confirm.