

CALL FOR PAPERS

It's that time of year again! Time to get published in
*The American Papers!

The American Papers is the journal of the CSUF American Studies Student Association. We want to publish the best essays written in any American Studies course at CSUF in the past year. In other words, we want to publish your best work! So look over what you have written recently, choose your best research paper or essay, and submit it to The American Papers.

Submission Guidelines:

*Submissions will be read anonymously, so please take your name off the paper itself. Headers should only include the title of the paper, and the class for which it was written.

*Include a formal cover sheet with the title of the paper and the course name/semester for which the paper was written, and your name, phone number and email address for summer 2009.

*Mark your submission "Erica Ball: American Papers" and turn it in to the American Studies office in UH-313. Submission deadline is June 1, 2009.

*Although only one essay per author will be published, students may submit up to two essays for consideration.

Authors will receive a letter notifying them of the Editorial Board's decision at the end of the summer. Please note: accepted essays must be revised and resubmitted in electronic format at the beginning of the fall 2009 semester.
