Outstanding Educator of the Year Award 2007-2008 Nominations

- Background Information: The Outstanding Educator of the Year Award is given by the ASI Executive Senate in honor of a professor who has gone beyond the traditional role of being a teacher to being a mentor, advisor, role model and an important member of the campus community. The award is distinctive because it is the students who nominate their professors who have gone that extra mile to inspire, motivate, and educate.

Applications are available in TSU-207 as well as online at asi.fullerton.edu. Any student may pick up and complete the application by answering the four questions. Each academic Inter-Club Council will forward one professor nominee from the applications received from its college to the ASI Executive Senate, which will then select the recipient of the award from the eight nominations received. These eight nominees and the students who nominated them will be invited to attend the ASI Banquet, which will be held on Thursday, March 1, 2008 from 6-9pm, where the Outstanding Educator of the Year will be announced.

Applications are due by: Wednesday, March 19 at 5:00pm!
