Why should I major in Sociology at Cal State Fullerton?

Because of its broad scope, contemporary sociology offers exciting employment opportunities in a number of fields such as social work, politics, law, public administration, urban and environmental planning, public relations, personnel, criminal justice, counseling, the non-profit sector, international development, marketing, and other service professions. Using social and scientific methods, sociologists look beyond individual and unique events to the predictable broad patterns and regular occurrences of social life that influence groups. Studies range from the impact of post-industrial and global societies on family life, crime, mass communications, gender, race, ethnicity, class, inequalities, and intergenerational relations to the study of emotions and the norms and values that govern daily social interactions.

The major in Sociology at Cal State Fullerton offers:

Great Credentials — Our sociology program is considered by many to be one of the best in the Cal State University system. We offer a wide range of courses that are unmatched by most public or private universities in California.

Outstanding Faculty — Our faculty members are nationally and internationally-recognized scholars who hold doctorate degrees from prestigious universities across the United States. They are committed to sharing their knowledge about society and social behavior with their students.

Fantastic Students — Our graduates hold professional positions at schools, colleges and companies around the world. Many students go on to graduate studies and find themselves excelling in their chosen fields, whether it is sociology or another field of interest.

Flexibility — Our class schedule is flexible to accommodate work schedules, during the day, in the evening, and online.
Who is a sociology major?

Sociology major is generally a person who is intelligent, thoughtful, highly interested in society and social behaviors, and finding solutions to social problems. Students may choose to major in sociology in order to enter one of the many fields where relevant sociological knowledge and competence are expected. The major in sociology can also serve as excellent preparation for advanced study in master's and Ph.D. programs.

What courses are required for the major?

All sociology majors must complete a minimum of 36 units of sociology courses. At least 27 units must be upper division. Included in the 36 units are the following:

PRE-GRAD CHECK GUIDE FOR SOCIOLOGY MAJORS

hss.fullerton.edu/sociology

1. Transfer Units:
   Only 9 units of lower division Sociology courses may count toward the 36 units for the major. Upper Division transfer units are accepted at the discretion of the department. No more than 24 units of Sociology course work is transferrable toward the major.

2. Minimum Grades – All 36 Sociology units must be taken for a grade.
   A minimum of “C” in each core course and a minimum “C” average in overall sociology courses are required for both the major and minor degrees. Sociology majors must also pass a writing requirement class, SOCI 308 (3 units), with a minimum of “C”.

3. Statistics Waiver Policy: A lower division Sociology Statistics course will be counted towards the Sociology electives but will not substitute Sociology 303.

What can I do with a degree in sociology?

Before considering specific job search strategies, it is essential for you to gain a sense of the kinds of positions sociology graduates actually hold. While illustrative and not exhaustive, this list of potential jobs for B.A.s in sociology provides an overview of options. The titles were compiled from data supplied by Career Placement Offices and Sociology Departments at three major institutions of higher education in the United States.

Positions for those with M.A. or Ph.D. degrees in the field will find some that include the word sociologist. Note that at the B.A. level, none of these job titles include the work “sociology” -- nor will you find many entries under “sociologist” in the Sunday paper’s employment ads. However, all of these positions are open to and appropriate for sociology graduates; they require the skills and theoretical perspective secured through sociological training. Your special interests, experiences, and work setting preference will help you decide which of these career paths to select.

In addition to the positions listed here, sociologist work in many other professional areas, including positions of political and national leadership. For example, Senator Daniel Patrick Moynihan (D-NY) had a doctorate in sociology and civil rights leaders Jesse Jackson and Ralph Abernathy earned B.A.s in sociology. Take this list as a starting point, not as an endpoint. Now that you have a better idea of possible job titles, we can proceed to strategies that will help you find employment.
Where Can I Find the Approved GE Course List?

1. Go to http://www.fullerton.edu/undergraduate/
2. Click on “General Education”
3. Scroll down and click on “How do I find which courses are approved for GE?” under “For Students”
4. Click on “Catalog Year 2018 & Later: Search GE Courses” on the left side of the screen
5. Courses #300 or higher are considered upper division
6. Upper division courses are commonly found in categories B.5, C.4, D.4, E, and Z
7. Courses marked with an * are cultural diversity courses for category Z

Note: To search for available class times you should log on to your student center, press the blue enroll link, view the correct semester and search for your specific class
UNDERGRADUATE REPEAT POLICY FAQs

Is there a maximum number of units I can repeat?
- 16 units maximum (at CSUF) using Grade Forgiveness (for entire CSUF record)
- 12 units maximum (at CSUF) using Grades Averaged (from Fall 2009 forward)

What is the difference between repeats with 'Grade Forgiveness' and repeats with 'Grades Averaged'?
- Grade Forgiveness: The GPA calculation is adjusted to remove the effect of the initial grade and include only the repeated grade (with both grades remaining listed on the academic record).
- Grades Averaged: The GPA calculation includes the grades of both takes of the class (with both grades remaining listed on the academic record).

Is this repeat policy something new?
- Grade Forgiveness: A 16-unit repeat limit has been in effect for many years at CSUF and remains in place. Only the name used for this policy – Grade Forgiveness – is new.
- Grades Averaged: There is now a new 12-unit limit on repeats with Grades Averaged. In the past, a student could repeat classes, that did not come under the 16-unit limit on forgiveness-type repeats, as often as needed. You are now limited to a maximum of 12 units of repeats with Grades Averaged.

Do these limits include classes taken through CSUF University Extended Education?
Yes

Do these limits include courses I repeated at a community college or another university?
No. Beginning Fall 2009:
- Grade Forgiveness: This repeat total will be reset to include only courses taken and repeated at CSUF and which have had the repeat policy applied to them.
- Grades Averaged: Beginning with Fall 2009, all undergraduate students will have 12 units of Grades Averaged repeats to use; any courses prior to Fall 2009 that were repeated and had both grades averaged in the GPA will not count against the 12-unit limit.

Do all students get a “new” 16 units of repeats to use under Grade Forgiveness?
No. Prior to Fall 2009, the previous way of tracking forgiveness-type repeat use was to include both your transfer repeats (repeats from other schools), as well as CSUF repeats, up to a maximum of 16 units. Starting with Fall 2009, the method of tracking Grade Forgiveness repeats has been revised so that it no longer includes transfer repeats (repeats from other schools). All courses that you take and repeat at CSUF count in your 16-unit Grade Forgiveness total, no matter what semester you took them.

If your repeat total previously included transfer repeats, your Grade Forgiveness total is now an adjusted number resulting from the removal of transfer repeats. If you did not have any transfer repeats in your repeat total prior to Fall 2009, your total does not need an adjustment since it has always included only repeats for CSUF courses. Therefore, a revised total of utilized Grade Forgiveness units is not going to affect all students, and for those who are affected, it is not an automatic “new” 16 units.

Since my previous transfer repeats no longer count against my 16 units of Grade Forgiveness, can I use restored repeat units on classes I repeated prior to Fall 2009?
Yes. You will need to submit the Academic Inquiry form to Admissions and Records to have the repeats applied to your record. In these cases, the repeats would be applied in sequence, from those that occurred first in time moving forward to the most recently repeated courses.
Are Grade Forgiveness repeats applied in the order in which you repeated classes?
Yes. Grade Forgiveness repeats are to be applied in the order in which they occurred.

Can I repeat a class where I earned a ‘C’ or better to improve my grade in the class?
No, unless the class is noted in the University catalog as “may be repeated for credit”.

Can I repeat a class at the community college that was originally taken at CSUF?
You can do so, HOWEVER THIS WOULD NOT QUALIFY FOR USING GRADE FORGIVENESS POLICY AT CSUF. If you originally take a class at CSUF, you must repeat it at CSUF if you wish to use CSUF Grade Forgiveness policy.

Is there a limit on how many times I can repeat the same class at CSUF?
Yes. Beginning with Fall 2009 you will only be allowed to repeat the same course two times, for a total maximum enrollment of three times, regardless of whether these takes occur under Grade Forgiveness or Grades Averaged.
*This guideline does not apply to courses noted in the University catalog as “may be repeated for credit”.

Is this 3-take limit something new?
Yes. Previously there was no limit on the number of times a student could repeat the same class.

I already took a course 3 times, but it was before Fall 2009 – do those 3 times count?
Yes. Beginning with registration for Spring 2010, when you attempt to register for a class, the system will search your entire CSUF record to see how many times you have previously taken that class. If you have already taken an individual course three times, you will receive an error message and will not be able to register for the class again.
*This guideline does not apply to courses noted in the University catalog as “may be repeated for credit”.

Do the grades of ‘W’, ‘WU’, and ‘IC’ count as previous “takes” of a class?
‘W’ does not count as a previous “take” of a class.
‘WU’ and ‘IC’ do count as a previous “take” of a class.

What if I still need to pass a class after taking it unsuccessfully 3 times?
The registration system will not allow a student to register for a fourth take of the same course. This restriction is based on Chancellor’s Office policy and is not flexible. There may be extreme cases where an exception would be considered by petition. This requires that you meet the following criteria:
• You must have filed for a grad check
• The course must be needed as one of your remaining graduation requirements
If you meet these criteria, or if you have questions about whether your circumstances qualify for submitting a petition, please go to Registration in LH-114 for further information.

When I repeat a class, is the repeat policy applied automatically?
No. It is the student’s responsibility to submit an Academic Inquiry form (available in Admissions and Records – LH-114) to request that the repeat policy adjustment be made on your academic record. This is the standard procedure for the repeat policy to be applied to a repeated course. However, there may be times when Admissions and Records will apply the repeat policy without this form being submitted. This may occur when an institutional need requires it (for example, at the time of a student’s final grad check, to insure accurate recordkeeping for graduation purposes, or at the end of a semester to prevent a student’s possible academic disqualification from the university).

How do I find out the number of repeat units I have used?
You can view this information via the Student Portal. Within your Student Center go to the drop-down box labeled 'other academic...' Select ‘Withdrawals/Repeats’ from the drop-down and click the double arrows. You can review your repeat information under the ‘Repeats’ tab.
INCOMPLETE POLICY FAQS
effective Fall 2009

If I receive an 'I' (Incomplete) in a class, can I sign up for it again to finish the class?
No. Completing a class in which you currently have an ‘I’ does not involve registering for the class a second time to complete remaining requirements.

What happens if I sign up again for a class in which I currently have an ‘I’?
Beginning with registration for Spring 2010, the system will not allow you to re-enroll in a course in which you have an ‘I’ until the “I” has either been changed by the course professor to a letter grade after you have completed course requirements, or the ‘I’ has automatically converted to an ‘IC’.

What is an ‘IC’?
An ‘IC’ means ‘Incomplete Charged’ and is equivalent to an ‘F’ in the GPA calculation. An ‘I’ converts automatically to an ‘IC’ if you have not fulfilled course requirements in the two semesters (one calendar year) that immediately follow the semester in which you were assigned the ‘I’, whether or not you are enrolled at CSUF during those semesters.

UNDERGRADUATE WITHDRAWAL POLICY FAQS
effective Fall 2009

Is there a limit on the number of units I can withdraw from?
Yes. Undergraduate students (including students pursuing a second bachelor’s degree) have a maximum limit of 18 units of ‘W’ (withdrawal) at CSUF. This ‘count’ on ‘W’s against an overall limit of 18 units begins with the Fall 2009 semester.

Is the 18-unit limit something new?
Yes. There was no previous limit. The policy change to the 18-unit limit is effective as of the start of Fall 2009.

If I have ‘W’s on my CSUF record before Fall 2009, will they count towards this limit?
No. ‘W’s on the CSUF record prior to the policy change will remain on the student’s record but will not be counted towards the unit limit. Beginning in Fall 2009, all undergraduate students will have 18 units of ‘W’ to use, regardless of the number of ‘W’s on record prior to Fall 2009.
If I have 'W's on record from courses taken at other colleges, do they count towards this limit?
No. The 'W's included in the limit are only those at CSUF, beginning with Fall 2009.

Does this limit include courses taken through CSUF University Extended Education?
Yes

While I'm attending CSUF, if I take a class at a community college and receive a 'W', does that count?
No

Are instructor-initiated drops that result in a 'W' counted in this limit?
Yes

Are there any exceptions to the 18-unit limit?
The only exceptions designated include:

- Serious Personal/Injury Late Withdrawal (a special Late Withdrawal form and documentation are required for this process - the rules and procedures are stated on the form available from Registration in LH-114)
- Petition for Emergency Medical Withdrawal (for reasons of serious accident or personal injury occurring during the last three weeks of instruction - the form is available through the Office of the Registrar in LH-101)
- Military Deployment in the US armed forces over which the student had no control (please contact Registration in LH-114)

Where can I see how many 'W's I have used?
You can view this information via the Student Portal. Within your Student Center go to the drop-down box labeled 'other academic...' Select 'Withdrawals/Repeats' from the drop-down and click the double arrows. You can review your withdrawal information under the 'Withdrawals' tab.

Could I determine how many 'W's of the 18-unit limit I have used just by looking at the my CSUF transcript and counting them, starting with Fall 2009 forward?
No. You may have some 'W's that were exempt from the "count" (for reasons explained earlier in these FAQs). The correct "count" of 'W's you have used in your 18-unit limit should be viewed via the Student Center.

What if I need to withdraw from several classes during the Late Withdrawal period, and have signed withdrawal forms for them, but don't have enough units under the limit to withdraw from all of them? Who decides which forms will be processed?
Registration will not be able to accept Late Withdrawal forms for classes that exceed the 18-unit limit. The student will be required to decide which course(s) to withdraw from if all Late Withdrawal forms cannot be processed. For any class that you cannot withdraw from (due to having used all 18 units of 'W') you will remain officially enrolled in the class and will receive the grade assigned by the professor at the end of the the semester. (Note: A 'W' cannot be assigned by the professor at the end of the semester.)
Are 'W's that result from an approved retroactive withdrawal petition counted?
This determination will be made as a part of the petition review process.

Is a 'W' the same as a 'WU'?
No. A 'WU' (Withdrawal Unauthorized) indicates that an enrolled student did not withdraw from the course, but failed to complete course requirements. It is used when, in the judgment of the instructor, completed assignments or course activities, or both, were insufficient to make normal evaluation of academic performance possible. A 'WU' could also mean that you enrolled in a class, but never attended. For GPA purposes, a 'WU' is equivalent to 'F'.

Do 'WU' grades count towards the 18-unit limit?
No

5. ASSIST (For Transfer Students)

   http://www.assist.org
   • ASSIST is an online student-transfer information system that shows how course credits earned at one public California College or University can be applied when transferred to another. It is the official repository of articulation for California's public colleges and universities. Access the website assist.org and begin by selecting an institution.
Steps to use Assist.org:

1. Select Institution: Institution you would like to take a course at/completed course(s) at, and the Academic Year: The academic year refers to the catalog year you plan to enroll into/completed the course at the college/university

2. Under Agreements with Other Campuses: Select California State University, Fullerton. We recommend searching utilizing the "By Department at: California State University, Fullerton" drop-down menu

3. Wait for the page to refresh with results. Use the CSUF course name (Department and Number) to determine if there is an equivalent course or courses. If there is no articulation, there is no equivalent course at this college/university.

4. Be sure to submit official transcripts from any and all completed transfer coursework to CSUF Admissions and Records, located in University Hall 114.

Note: You must apply at the institution and be admitted in order to be eligible to enroll at the college/university.
